Since no monetary pledges are sought or solicited, love and goodwill are the only currencies that are traded freely at the Walk for Values. Resonating this vision, the following companies and organizations are generously lending their moral support to the Walk for Values by throwing their weight behind this effort. They are encouraging participation in the community and spreading the good word about it. We value their partnership in creating awareness about the place of values in society and the need to proactively seek individual transformation as a first step towards societal transformation.
